ALLOWABLE AMATEUR EXPENSES

1. A player (student-athlete) starting play in a tournament as an Amateur remains an Amateur for the purposes of that tournament.

(NCAA clarification: Each institution is responsible to verify all information used in certifying a student-athlete's eligibility.)

2. Expenses: NCAA amateurism rules permit an enrolled student-athlete participating as an amateur player in an "open event" to receive actual and necessary expenses. These expenses must come directly from the sponsor (non-professional).

Actual and necessary expenses are limited to the entry fee, transportation to and from the event, and a "reasonable" per diem allowance (based upon prevailing costs at tournament locale) while competing in an event to cover lodging and meals. Note: "While competing in an event" would normally mean that reimbursement would begin once the participant arrives on-site and registers for the event and would include the day(s) of competition, day(s) in between competition, as well as a day prior to and after the competition for traveling purposes.

(This wording has been provided by the NCAA for clarification.)

3. Where practical, expenses should be supported by receipts or other evidence of payment.

(NCAA clarification: Although receipts are not required per NCAA regulations, an institution is responsible for ensuring that appropriate documentation exists.)

4. An Amateur cannot accept reimbursement for an expense if someone else (for example, Sponsor) has paid such expense, unless the Amateur actually returns such payment to the Sponsor.

5. An enrolled student-athlete may have a coach or parent in attendance at an event but can not accept the actual and necessary expenses on behalf of their coach or parent or include the expenses of the coach or parent in the participant's own reimbursement for actual and necessary expenses. NCAA amateurism regulations do not permit the calculation of actual and necessary expenses of the participating prospective student-athlete or enrolled student-athlete to include the expenses or fees of anyone other than the participant (e.g. coach's fees or expenses, parent's expenses).

Finally, please note that a tournament sponsor, at its discretion, may provide actual and necessary expenses directly to a coach or any other individual provided such reimbursement is not based on the participants place finish in the event.
